BREMEN SIGHTED OVER NOVA SCOTIA

NATION AWAITS ARRIVAL OF THREE INTREPID AIRMEN

NO DEFINITE WORD CONCERNING THEIR FATE AT NOON TODAY

STEAMER ARRAS SEE WHAT THEY THINK IS BREMEN OVER KINGSPORT, N. S.

By MAURICE MERMY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 14.—A nation which waited anxiously for the German airplane Bremen to touch on American soil had received no definite word concerning its fate at noon today—35½ hours after the plane left Dublin.

Hopes were partially revived by a report that Capt. Moorehouse of the Canadian government steamer Arras and other persons had seen a plane believed to be the Bremen over Kingsport, Nova Scotia, some 600 miles from New York.

Bath, Me., April 13.—After tracing the course of an airplane sighted by coast guards at the mouth of the Kennebec river shortly after 1 P. M. today, police here expressed doubt that the plane could have been the Bremen.

On approaching Cape Elizabeth, about 35 miles southwest of Bath, the plane changed its south-southwest course to the northward.

Kingsport, N. S., April 13.—Capt. Moorehouse of the Canadian government steamer Arras reported today that he had sighted an airplane which he believed to be the Bremen, flying over Kingsport at 10:36 A. M., Atlantic standard time (9 A. M. eastern standard time).

Capt. Moorehouse said the plane was flying so high that he could not distinguish its markings but that he could hear its motor distinctly and he believed he saw several persons on board.

Kingsport, a town of 200 population, is located on Mines Basin, on the west coast of Nova Scotia, 100 miles west of the Atlantic ocean.

It is almost 550 miles south of St. Johns, N. F., and about 600 miles by air to New York.

The plane was flying west by southwest and was reported to have been seen by several persons.

Montreal, Can., April 13.—Reports received here said a plane believed to be the Bremen was sighted at 10:45 A. M. today over Kingsport, Nova Scotia.

New York, April 13.—The Radio Corporation of America told the United Press its Chatham station had not received a wireless from a ship at sea saying a plane believed to be the German monoplane Bremen had been sighted off Newfoundland today.

Although the radio message was reported to have been directed to the Chatham station of the R. C. A., officials of that station informed the Nahant operators that no such message had been picked up at Chatham.

"We have had no radio this morning, relating to the Bremen," Chatham officials said.

Among the steamships known to be in the vicinity of Newfoundland were the Lithuania, New Amsterdam and Muenchen, but the Nahant station was unable to name the ship from which the intercepted message was supposed to have come.

Boston, April 13.—Favorable flying weather prevailed along the New England coast today.

It was clear, calm and rather warm, with only a light west wind.

Reports received from as far north as Eastport, Me., indicated that the weather was favorable over the entire eastern coast.

Mitchell Field, L. I., N. Y., April 13.—A crowd of more than 2,000 persons waited at the army field here today in the hope of welcoming the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen and honoring the fliers who will have accomplished the first westward flight by plane.

Scores were arriving every minute to join the throng at the field.

Several hundred automobiles were parked nearby and more arrived continually.

Grover Whalen and his official welcoming committee were on hand in behalf of the city. Many distinguished Germans were in the crowd. Hundreds of women and children were among those waiting.

KING SAVED, BUT SIXTEEN OF HIS SUBJECTS KILLED BY BOMB

Milan, April 13.—(U.P.)—Two hundred persons are in police custody on suspicion that they were connected with the attempt to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel which cost the lives of 16 of his subjects here yesterday.

Two women reported they had seen a man holding a box, pacing nervously in front of the lamp post on the Piazza Giulio Cesare in which the grenade bomb was hidden.

He disappeared when he realized he was being watched.

Evidence gathered so far indicated the man returned late Wednesday night and placed the time bomb in the cavity of the lamp post.

The bodies of the victims were taken to the Milan cathedral tonight and will lie in state all night, with a guard of honor of fascist militiamen.

Services for the dead will be held Saturday morning, with Cardinal Tossoli officiating.

The Bremen was over Kingsport, N. S., the news was flashed to the waiting crowd and there was great jubilation.

New York, April 13.—The Commercial Cable Company at 12:30 P. M. today received a report from its station at Canso, N. S., saying that a report had been received there to the effect that the German airplane Bremen had passed over Mines Basin at 11:15 A. M.

Dublin, April 13.—"What more can I do?" Mrs. James E. Fitzmaurice, wife of the Irish member of the Bremen monoplane's crew, said today.

"I can wait and hope, that is all." Officials at Baldonnel airfield, whence the fliers started yesterday morning, expressed confidence in the plane.

New York April 13.—The unblazed westward air trail of the North Atlantic holds the story of the success or failure of the German airplane Bremen which left Dublin yesterday for "Mitchell Field or Heaven."

The plane's three masters—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther Von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Colonel James E. Fitzmaurice—hoped to land on Long Island within 36 hours, or about 1 P. M. today.

That schedule would have placed the Bremen over Newfoundland about midnight last night. So far as is known, the plane has not been sighted since it sailed over the Irish coast at 2:05 A. M. (eastern standard time) yesterday.

There was a report at 8:30 P. M. yesterday that an airplane had been heard in the vicinity of Shoal Harbor, Trinity Bay. The watchers said they did not see the plane because of overcast skies. It was considered most improbable this could have been the Bremen, for it would have put the plane across the Atlantic at least four hours ahead of a schedule it could not have maintained because of head winds in mid-Atlantic.

GRASP OF BIG THREE ON ALL STATE AFFAIRS

MEETS ANOTHER REBUFF IN DECISION OF JUDGE CARLTON
J. McNALLY

SAYS BIG 3 CANNOT BLOCK LETTING OF CONTRACTS BY C. M. BABCOCK

St. Paul, April 13.—(U.P.)—Grasp of the Big Three on all state affairs met another rebuff today in the decision of Judge Carlton J. McNally that the organization cannot block letting of contracts by C. M. Babcock, highway commissioner.

Judge McNally in Ramsey county district court today filed his decision in the Mergens road contract case. Hearing was held before Judge McNally April 3 on petitions of J. J. and M. S. Mergens, Minneapolis contractors, for a writ of mandamus to compel filing with the state treasurer a road work contract and bond already approved by Babcock as highway commissioner.

The Big Three at first approved the Mergens contract. Later, following the return of the contract with Babcock's approval, the organization withdrew approval on the grounds Martin Wunderlich, St. Paul, was the low bidder. One item of Wunderlich's bid for the work, which was to be on highway No. 5 between Mankato and St. Peter, contained the figure 0.1.

This figure Babcock read as 10 cents. The Big Three held that it was one cent, which would make Wunderlich's bid low.

In his decision Judge McNally declared that Babcock acted in proper exercise of his discretion when he chose to consider the figure as 10 cents and that any other interpretation would have been dangerous to the best interests of the state.

The court further ruled that Babcock who had held the contract and bond after the Big Three approval had been cancelled, should forward them to the state treasurer for his approval. The temporary writ of mandamus which Judge McNally granted also ordered the Big Three to reapprove the contract.

touched Newfoundland about midnight last night.

But at 6 A. M. they had not been sighted.

St. John's, N. F., April 13.—Overcast skies, which meant poor visibility, hung over the Newfoundland coast today as residents watched for the German trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen.

The German plane, carrying Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Col. James Fitzmaurice of the Irish Free State air service, would have been due in this vicinity some time between midnight and 3 A. M. if the fliers had maintained their schedule.

There had been no report of the plane being sighted.

About 8:30 P. M. Thursday there was a report that watchers at Shoal Harbor on Trinity Bay, 60 miles northwest of St. John's, had heard what they believed was an airplane motor's roar.

No plane was sighted, however. It was considered highly doubtful that this could have been the Bremen, inasmuch as the Bremen would have had to be maintaining a much greater average speed than the fliers anticipated.

There was a light easterly wind this morning—a head wind that would retard flying speed—in addition to the cloudy skies.

Forecasts were for gales with possibly sleet and rain.

The German airplane Bremen had not been sighted.

DESPITE FRENCH OPPOSITION TO RENUNCIATION

AMERICAN PROPOSAL EMBODIED IN NOTE SENT TO EM-BASSIES

DELIVERED BY AMBASSADORS TO FOREIGN OFFICES LONDON, BERLIN, ROME, TOKIO

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 13.—Despite French opposition to a sweeping unqualified renunciation of war, the United States today proposed that the six great world powers and other interested governments join in a treaty forever outlawing war or every description as among themselves. This proposal was embodied in a note, copies of which were simultaneously delivered by the American ambassadors to the foreign office in London, Berlin, Rome and Tokio.

Accompanying the communication was a preliminary draft of a pact "representing in a general way the form of a treaty which the government of the United States is prepared to sign." The draft which is brief and without reservations or conditions of any kind, is a simple declaration by which the signatory governments would "condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another."

Under article two, the government would "agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

The remaining article states that the treaty shall become effective as soon as the six powers have ratified it.

The note strongly suggested that important reservations will not be acceptable to the United States, although a way was left open for consideration of minor qualifications. The question is being submitted, the note said, so that "the British, German, Italian and Japanese governments should each have an opportunity formally to decide to what extent, if any, its commitments constitute a bar to its participation with the United States in an unqualified renunciation of war."

France previously had asked for an understanding clearly stating that its commitments under the league covenant and the Locarno agreements and the various neutrality treaties were not to be prejudiced by the proposed treaty. The United States, the note said, "has not conceded that such considerations necessitate any modification of its proposal for a multilateral treaty, and is of the opinion that every nation in the world can, with a proper regard for its own interests, as well as the interests of the entire family of nations, join in such a treaty."

That statement was interpreted in official quarters here as a subtle suggestion to France that its reservations cannot be accepted in their present form.

GENE SHANK ABANDONS HIS FIFTH ATTEMPT

TRIED TO BREAK WORLD'S ENDURANCE FLIGHT RECORD

DID, HOWEVER, BREAK RECORD FOR PLANES OF LESS THAN 100 HORSEPOWER

St. Paul, April 13.—(U.P.)—After bucking a 30-mile gale and snow most of the night, Gene Shank, 22-year-old law student aviator, was forced to abandon his fifth attempt to break the world's endurance flight record here today. He landed his plane at 9:18 o'clock after being in the air 14 hours.

Shank carried 143 gallons of gasoline. His plane was functioning smoothly when cold and high wind accompanying the blinding snow which had fallen for six hours forced him to earth.

Shank took off at the St. Paul airport shortly after 6 o'clock last night. His latest attempt was unheralded, and it was not until this morning that friends and admirers knew he was in the air.

The record held by Harry Brooks, who flew from Detroit to Titusville, Fla., in 12 hours and 30 minutes has been broken by Shank. The planes used by Shank and Brooks were less than 100 horsepower.

SENATE TAKES SUCH ACTION ON LEGISLATION

SENATE ADOPTED IT BY VOTE OF 53 TO 23. CAPABLE OF HURDLING VETO

PROPOSES ESTABLISHMENT OF A $400,000,000 REVOLVING FUND

By PAUL R. MALLOIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 13.—The McNary-Haugen farm bill was sent to the house today with notice from the senate that it probably could be passed over a presidential veto if that contingency arose.

By 53 to 23—three votes more than the two-thirds necessary to pass over a veto—the senate late yesterday adopted the measure proposing to establish a $400,000,000 revolving fund by which farmers could withhold their surpluses from the market under the equalization fee system.

The bill will be taken up in the house within a week or ten days. It undoubtedly will pass there, though not by as large a majority.

The senate's action was taken in the face of what is regarded as certain veto of the measure by President Coolidge. He vetoed a similar bill last session and as late as last Saturday informed a farm bloc leader privately that he was extremely dissatisfied with it.

Even if the senate should pass the measure over a veto, congressional leaders now fear the measure would fail to get the necessary two-thirds should it come up a second time in the house. The administration is stronger there than in the senate.

Midwestern republicans combined with democrats to put the bill through the senate. All presidential candidates of both parties voted for the measure, except Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Walsh of Montana, and Senator Reed of Missouri who was absent. Twenty-four republicans and 28 democrats with the one farmer-laborite favored the bill with 14 republicans and 9 democrats against.

Before the final vote all substitute plans offered were voted down. Sen. Brookhart, farm bloc leader from Iowa, pleaded in vain for a direct treasury subsidy.

As finally adopted the bill provides: establishment of a farm board. The board members, selected by the president with the advice and consent of the senate, would receive $10,000 a year each. One would be chosen from each of the federal reserve districts to serve with the secretary of agriculture. The board would primarily lend money up to $50,000,000 to co-operative organizations representing various groups of farm producers so that they might build warehouses and provide orderly marketing of all farm products.

The board's actions would be subject to restrictions from councils of seven men each. The councils would represent each of the major farm products—corn, wheat, cotton, etc.—and would be selected by the co-operatives in an election.

In case of necessity the council or the board could inaugurate action to use the equalization fee system, whereby the farmer would contribute a certain sum to be determined by the board; in order to pay for withholding a sufficient portion of the surplus from the market to keep the price up.

The only farm products exempted from the bill are fruits, vegetables and meat products. Their representatives asked to be exempt because their products are perishable, and cannot successfully be withheld from the market.

Cotton was given a preferred status satisfactory to southern democrats. It was provided $150,000,000 should be used for that product alone and a general understanding was reached that any action of the board with respect to cotton would be subject to the decision of the cotton council. That council, as the others, is to be selected from producers of the product.

The cross questioning was conducted by Van A. Barrikman, one of the defendants and counsel in the trial in which the Klan is seeking damages and a restraining injunction.

Evans was called by B. H. Connaughton, Klan counsel, as a surprise witness of the day when the Klan resumed its rebuttal testimony.

Connaughton endeavored to use Evans as a direct rebuttal witness against all the derogatory testimony which the defendants had used against the Klan.

The imperial wizard entered a blanket denial to every charge of unlawfulness, including murder, floggings, burnings at the stake, bombings and rioting.

AMERICAN PROPOSAL EMBODIED IN NOTE SENT TO EM-BASSIES

DELIVERED BY AMBASSADORS TO FOREIGN OFFICES LONDON, BERLIN, ROME, TOKIO

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 13.—Despite French opposition to a sweeping unqualified renunciation of war, the United States today proposed that the six great world powers and other interested governments join in a treaty forever outlawing war or every description as among themselves. This proposal was embodied in a note, copies of which were simultaneously delivered by the American ambassadors to the foreign office in London, Berlin, Rome and Tokio.

The draft which is brief and without reservations or conditions of any kind, is a simple declaration by which the signatory governments would "condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another."

Under article two, the government would "agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

The remaining article states that the treaty shall become effective as soon as the six powers have ratified it.

The note strongly suggested that important reservations will not be acceptable to the United States, although a way was left open for consideration of minor qualifications. The question is being submitted, the note said, so that "the British, German, Italian and Japanese governments should each have an opportunity formally to decide to what extent, if any, its commitments constitute a bar to its participation with the United States in an unqualified renunciation of war."

France previously had asked for an understanding clearly stating that its commitments under the league covenant and the Locarno agreements and the various neutrality treaties were not to be prejudiced by the proposed treaty. The United States, the note said, "has not conceded that such considerations necessitate any modification of its proposal for a multilateral treaty, and is of the opinion that every nation in the world can, with a proper regard for its own interests, as well as the interests of the entire family of nations, join in such a treaty."

That statement was interpreted in official quarters here as a subtle suggestion to France that its reservations cannot be accepted in their present form.

GENE SHANK ABANDONS HIS FIFTH ATTEMPT

DID, HOWEVER, BREAK RECORD FOR PLANES OF LESS THAN 100 HORSEPOWER

St. Paul, April 13.—(U.P.)—After bucking a 30-mile gale and snow most of the night, Gene Shank, 22-year-old law student aviator, was forced to abandon his fifth attempt to break the world's endurance flight record here today. He landed his plane at 9:18 o'clock after being in the air 14 hours.

Shank carried 143 gallons of gasoline. His plane was functioning smoothly when cold and high wind accompanying the blinding snow which had fallen for six hours forced him to earth.

Shank took off at the St. Paul airport shortly after 6 o'clock last night. His latest attempt was unheralded, and it was not until this morning that friends and admirers knew he was in the air.

The record held by Harry Brooks, who flew from Detroit to Titusville, Fla., in 12 hours and 30 minutes has been broken by Shank. The planes used by Shank and Brooks were less than 100 horsepower.

POSTMASTER GETS DAY OFF TO GO TROUT FISHING

Washington, April 13.—(U.P.)—Postmaster General New today granted the request of Postmaster Elmer S. Byers of Marion, Wis., for the day off May 1 when the trout season opens in that state.

New indicated he might some day join Byers in a fishing expedition.

Warren stole an automobile here and started toward Winona, Minn., Wednesday. About 15 miles north of here he wrecked the car.

Authorities searched the vicinity Wednesday and all day yesterday without success. A large amount of blood found near the car indicated that Warren was seriously injured.

DISGRUNTLED OVER SMALL LOOT FOUND

The fire was extinguished and was confined to the interior of the store, destroying only fixtures.

Austin, Tex., April 13.—(U.P.)—Dr. J. T. Ward, optometrist, today ordered a supply of monocles. "If Baron Von Huenefeld succeeds in his attempt to fly the Atlantic, monocles will likely be in demand," said Ward. He reported only three now in Austin.

SENATE TAKES SUCH ACTION ON LEGISLATION

SENATE ADOPTED IT BY VOTE OF 53 TO 23, CAPABLE OF HURDLING VETO

PROPOSES ESTABLISHMENT OF A $400,000,000 REVOLVING FUND

By PAUL R. MALJON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 13.—The McNary-Haugen farm bill was sent to the house today with notice from the senate that it probably could be passed over a presidential veto if that contingency arose.

By 53 to 23—three votes more than the two-thirds necessary to pass over a veto—the senate late yesterday adopted the measure proposing to establish a $400,000,000 revolving fund by which farmers could withhold their surpluses from the market under the equalization fee system.

The bill will be taken up in the house within a week or ten days. It undoubtedly will pass there, though not by as large a majority.

The senate's action was taken in the face of what is regarded as certain veto of the measure by President Coolidge. He vetoed a similar bill last session and as late as last Saturday informed a farm bloc leader privately that he was extremely dissatisfied with it.

Even if the senate should pass the measure over a veto, congressional leaders now fear the measure would fail to get the necessary two-thirds should it come up a second time in the house. The administration is stronger there than in the senate.

Midwestern republicans combined with democrats to put the bill through the senate. All presidential candidates of both parties voted for the measure, except Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Walsh of Montana, and Senator Reed of Missouri who was absent. Twenty-four republicans and 28 democrats with the one farmer-laborite favored the bill with 14 republicans and 9 democrats against.

Before the final vote all substitute plans offered were voted down. Sen. Brookhart, farm bloc leader from Iowa, pleaded in vain for a direct treasury subsidy.

As finally adopted the bill provides establishment of a farm board. The board members, selected by the president with the advice and consent of the senate, would receive $10,000 a year each. One would be chosen from each of the federal reserve districts to serve with the secretary of agriculture. The board would primarily lend money up to $50,000,000 to co-operative organizations representing various groups of farm producers so that they might build warehouses and provide orderly marketing of all farm products.

The board's actions would be subject to restrictions from councils of seven men each. The councils would represent each of the major farm products—corn, wheat, cotton, etc.—and would be selected by the co-operatives in an election.

In case of necessity the council or the board could inaugurate action to use the equalization fee system, whereby the farmer would contribute a certain sum to be determined by the board; in order to pay for withholding a sufficient portion of the surplus from the market to keep the price up.

The only farm products exempted from the bill are fruits, vegetables and meat products. Their representatives asked to be exempt because their products are perishable, and cannot successfully be withheld from the market.

Cotton was given a preferred status satisfactory to southern democrats. It was provided $150,000,000 should be used for that product alone and a general understanding was reached that any action of the board with respect to cotton would be subject to the decision of the cotton council. That council, as the others, is to be selected from producers of the product.

Mr. Nelson has been a teacher, farmer, grain dealer, business man and legislator. He served in the Minnesota house of representatives in the session of 1919, and the extra session of 1920.

His home paper, the Starbuck Times, says of him:

"Mr. Nelson has spent the greater part of his life in the grain business, and is thoroughly conversant with the problems of the thousands of small shippers throughout the state. He has ability, a genial manner, a wide and varied business experience, and is a hard worker and fair and courteous in the treatment of his associates. He has the respect and friendship of all who know him."

The Glenswood Herald, published at the county seat of his home county, says:

"Mr. Nelson will make a good man on this commission and Pope county should go on record as backing him to a man. He can fill the office with honor to himself and the county from which he hails. The Herald will do all it can to see him nominated and elected."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 13.—(U.P.)—Waving his hat in farewell to the crew of a trolley on the Canadian side of the Niagara river today, an unidentified man rode to his death over the Horseshoe Falls on a cake of ice.

T. Moyer and A. Mennette of Niagara Falls, Ont., witnessed the suicide.

Lagerquist-Williams

A quiet pre-Easter wedding of interest to Tacoma friends was solemnized Saturday, March 31, when Miss Marjorie Elaine Williams, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Williams, became the bride of Irvin Monroe Lagerquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Lagerquist of Tacoma.

The service was read by Rev. C. W. Weyer in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock and the attendants were Miss Lorene Iselite and Alvin R. Carlson. The bride, a charming Tacoma girl, is a graduate of the Stadium high school. She is a daughter of one of the city's oldest families and has many friends interested in the news of her marriage. Mrs. Lagerquist attended the University of Minnesota and is affiliated with the Theta Xi.

Mr. and Mrs. Lagerquist will make their home in Centralia after Easter. —Tacoma Sunday Ledger.

ADJUST LOSSES OF HIGH SCHOOL FIRE

School Board Accepts Offer of Adjusters, $112,000 for Building and Contents Loss

BOARD RETAINS SALVAGE

Board Vote to Engage F. E. Ebner as Special Counsel, Adjourns to Next Monday Evening

At the adjourned session last night the school board accepted the offer of the insurance companies adjusters on the high school fire loss, $112,000 insurance for building and contents loss, the board to retain all salvage of building and contents. Walter H. Cobban, local adjuster, assisted the school board in its negotiations.

On motion of George Falconer, seconded by Fred Drexler, the board accepted the offer and the proper officers were authorized to execute all necessary papers. As stated by President G. D. LaBar of the board, there will be some 49 insurance companies paying their share of the fire loss. The original insurance carried was $93,000 on the building and $22,400 on the contents.

During the discussion on insurance matters cognizance was taken of the fact that pupils and teachers lost articles which carried no insurance. In the future, insurance may be carried to protect such losses. Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal, lost her typewriter in the fire. Various sewing class pupils lost dresses and dress material. Many lost books belonging to the Brainerd Public Library. The cooking class teacher lost her original recipes and other matter.

Vernon White, contractor, reported progress at the old court house reconditioning. He expected the building to be ready for occupancy a week from Monday. Steam was put on yesterday morning and a few returns were replaced. Five pounds pressure was put on in the afternoon and a few leaks in radiators developed.

After a discussion on the need of fire escapes at the old court house, the motion of Fred Drexler, seconded by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, carried that two fire escapes be installed.

On motion of M. E. Morrison, seconded by John Holvick, carried, that the selection of a storage location for salvage be left to the building committee.

On motion of George Falconer, seconded by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, the motion carried that the finance and insurance committee place compensation insurance on any workers employed by the school board.

Mr. LaBar stated briefly: "We should start pretty soon informally and formally on our new building program. Our whole affairs from the start to the present time should be brought up to date to determine what move to make. We may need additional counsel, local or outside, as to what we can do and what we cannot do."

F. M. Hagberg: "I move we employ F. E. Ebner as special counsel to assist the board." The motion was seconded by Fred Drexler, and carried.

Mr. Hagberg: "There are many things coming up on which we shall need legal advice."

Mr. LaBar: "We shall need advice on building contracts, etc., when they come up."

Mr. LaBar: "I do not know whether to adjourn to a certain date or to call special meetings."

Mr. Drexler: "It seems to me we are losing time on some things. We should decide on a building course and start business."

Mr. LaBar: "As far as the architects are concerned, that is a matter that should be discussed too."

Mrs. Thabes: "I've had plenty of them call."

Mr. Holvick: "Three of them were at my place and showed me pictures and plans."

Mr. Hagberg: "Something should be done quickly. Mr. Ebner should be notified and if he accepts, he can outline what we can do and cannot do. That will give us a start."

Mr. Hohman: "We are absolutely certain on adjournments, but not on special meetings."

Mr. LaBar inquired about teachers committee reports and Mr. Morrison replied, "With all these meetings held and coming on, when can the teachers committee meet?"

On suggestion of Mr. LaBar that adjournment be taken to Monday evening, the motion was made by Mrs. Thabes, seconded by Mr. Crust and carried.

U. C. T. DANCE IS SUCCESSFUL ONE

Large Attendance Enjoys Easter Ball Given by the United Commercial Travelers

RED HOT RAMBLERS COMING

Organization to Put on Five Acts Vaudeville and Dance Following on April 20 and 21

The Easter ball given by Brainerd Council No. 545 of the United Commercial Travelers attracted a large attendance on Monday evening and all were pleased with the music furnished by the seven Northern Serenaders. The floor arrangements were perfect and the favors given the ladies occasioned a pleasant surprise.

Crosby and Wadena sent large delegations to the dance and as the roads were in fine shape, they negotiated the distance in fast time.

For April 20 and 21 the U. C. T. announce the engagement of the Red Hot Ramblers, an organization that will put on five acts of vaudeville following by a dance. There will be a popular admission price.

At the recent election held by the council, Robert L. Elder succeeded to the post of Senior Counselor and under his administration the council expects to make a large growth in membership and increase its usefulness in the community.

THE TRAGEDY OF MANY LIVES IS CONSTIPATION

Guard against it in time

This evil scourge ruins thousands of promising men and women. It saps vigor. It kills initiative. It wrecks health and happiness. Sleepless nights, dragging feet, headaches, pain-dulled eyes, follow in its wake. Frequently it leads to lasting and serious disease.

Yet there is safe, prompt relief. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. To surely prevent it. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran—100% effective. Doctors recommend it. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Don't you agree it is better to cure constipation with this healthful cereal than to try dangerous pills and drugs? Or uncertain part-bran products? Delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Sprinkle it into soups. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THIS MAN HOOVER

MARK SULLIVAN, political writer, has much to say of Hoover. Writing in the Minneapolis Journal, Sullivan says that the republicans, in their platform and in their campaign, will capitalize, more than any other asset, the record of the Coolidge administration. In doing that the nomination of Hoover is almost inevitable. "It is not merely that Hoover is the only one of the candidates or possibilities who is in the cabinet, and, therefore, has been during seven years in direct contact with the administration, a fundamental part of it, familiar with all its policies, but Hoover himself, to a considerable degree, is responsible for the carrying out of some of the most important of the policies.

"Hoover's strength in this respect can be realized when it is said that he, alone among the candidates, has to the Coolidge administration the relation that in other organizations is spoken of as second man. In nearly every administrative group, board of overseers of a college, executive board of a college, bank directorate or what not, there is almost always some man who is recognized as the natural successor whenever the head man retires. If the choice of the next republican nominee were made in the matter in which ordinary bodies make similar transactions of office and power, Hoover would be the choice automatically.

"But Hoover, among the candidates, is not only the outstanding one in his relation to the present administration. He is the only one. Stronger than that, all the other important candidates are identified with opposition to the administration."

THE SPIRIT OF COMPETITION

THE spirit of competition grows stronger every day and the latest exploit, "Office boy captures gum chewing contest," led Life to take up the matter and make these suggestions:

In these days of contests the following might be suggested to aspirants for world's championships:

1. Women's cigarette-smoking contest. (Winner to be buried with honors.)
2. Phonograph players' contest. (Must break all records.)
3. Back-seat drivers' contest. (Winners to be run over by ten-ton truck.)
4. Bootleggers' contest. (Must drink own liquor. Federal agents barred.)
5. Golf liars' contest. (No amateurs allowed.)
6. First sign of spring contest. (Must capture all first robins with liars.)
7. "Blue Heaven" singing contest. (100,000 prizes of home-steads on the Great American desert.)
8. Presidential candidates' contest. (Must answer "yes" or "no" on foreign policy.)
9. Wrestlers' contest. (Winner to be decided beforehand.)
10. Oil-land leasing contest. (First prize, $300,000 in missing bonds.)

HE WORKS

MAYBE he wears greasy overalls during his work hours, possibly his hands are knotted and gnarled from hard work, perhaps his face is seamed and weatherbeaten and a bit stolid, but he is more entitled to respect and honor than thousands of dapper white collar workers whose claims of big incomes would not bear close inspection.

He is the laborer who works with his hands as well as with his head. He is the real creator of our national wealth. On his integrity, industry, and common sense our entire economic and social structure is built.

NO FIRES AT GOODHUE

GOODHUE firemen are faced with a lack of fires. Three years have gone by and not a single fire reported. It is a matter of conjecture whether any other town the size of Goodhue has such a good record.

The sturdy fire fighters find that returns from the part-time vocation are small. The salary system slogan of the town fathers is terse; no fires, no pay. The last fire was early in 1925 when damage amounting to $25 was caused to a barber shop.

Despite lack of recent experience the department is said to be constantly prepared. Fire drills on practice nights show the equipment to be in perfect condition. Despite the lack of experience, thrills and salaries, the small boys of Goodhue are the only citizens who yearn for fires, it is reported.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING CONTESTS

Two hundred or more Minnesota high school agricultural students will compete in the annual state-wide high school livestock judging contests at the Minnesota College of Agriculture May 11 and 12.

Contests will be held in the judging of general livestock, meat and poultry. The general livestock division has been classified in eight grades. Milk, meat and poultry competition will be staged on the final day of the meet.

Competitors in the judging will attend the Royal Livestock show to be conducted under the auspices of the Block and Bridle club on May 12. The club is an organization of agricultural students. The judging contests will be supervised by Paul Calrow, state superintendent of agricultural education.

ICE CRUSHES WITH GREAT FORCE

WARM weather has thawed ice near the shore line of Rice lake and when the wind blew from the north several successive days, things happened to the dock and diving stand at Lum park.

The ice swept to shore with irresistible force and crunched up the two docks and today park workmen are reclaiming the material, salvaging what they can. The plan is to build docks in the future that can be taken up at the close of a season and thus avoid the unpleasant experience of having a mighty floe punch holes into material.

AFTER sending all the Marines to Nicaragua to insure decent elections there, we haven't any left for Chicago.

SYNOPSIS

Danny Malone is lured from his beat while bandits again raid the Dayton silk warehouses and is discharged from the force in disgrace. A note from his long missing brother, Dicky, had tricked him and, fearing that Dicky is one of the bandits, Danny refuses to offer a defense. His sweetheart, Mary Gillen, however, will not believe Danny is guilty of neglect of duty and suspects Alfred Dayton, Jr., her employer, of being implicated in the silk raids. A newspaper reporter, Jimmy Wells, agrees to help her and suggests that she accompany Dayton to a night club in the hope of obtaining information. Danny in the meantime had taken a job with a trucking firm suspected of being connected with the silk gang and is delivering liquor to an uptown speakeasy when Mary staggers out of the door. She does not see him.

It was a trifle out of date perhaps, but when Mary was inside it no one wasted time on thinking about the dress. She was utterly confident that Dayton would be only too pleased to accompany her and as she laid out her clothes she thought over her plan of campaign.

Dad wondered a little, but the sight of her going around as if she were almost happy swayed his better judgment and he let her make her plans.

Next morning she went into the office intending to be very nice to Dayton. On his desk was a letter from his brokers and on opening it she found that it was a further demand for five thousand dollars. She was careful to place this letter upon the top of his pile and watched him carefully when he came in and commenced to open them. Unlike the last time, she seemed to be a little worried.

"How much have I in the bank?" he asked her. "A little over two thousand dollars," was the reply. "Mm—nothing, something's got to be done there."

A few minutes later he went out without telling her and was gone for about twenty minutes. On his return he was sadly put out and for the first time since her employment, he snapped at her when she asked him for dictation.

The surprised look in her eyes reminded him that he did not want to offend her. He wished to repay her for the time when she left him flatfooted after he had driven her home.

"Sorry Miss Gillen," he said solemnly. "I am afraid I forgot myself a little. Won't you have lunch with me to show me that you've forgiven?"

"Not lunch Mr. Dayton, I've got another—" then he interrupted her to make the proposal that she was angling for.

"How about dinner then? A nice little ride uptown in the car, dinner at the Red Mill, or dinner down here, a show and then the Mill after."

"That would be much nicer. I would love to see 'Funny-Face' they say it's awfully good."

"Anywhere you say dear," it was clear already, "you'd better go home early so that we'll have plenty of time. I know how long it takes for girls to struggle into their glad-rags and I want you to be ready when I call for you."

"It's awfully nice of you," Mary encouraged him. "I guess I'll leave around four thirty, if you don't mind."

"Great," he replied, "what'll it be? Show first?"

"I think so. Too much cabaret gets boring," she answered brightly, never having been to one, but wishing to appear as sophisticated as possible.

All day she was very careful to notice each of the calls that Dayton made and received. Nothing happened, and though he had been cheerful enough while he was making the date, he remained in a nasty temper for the balance of the day.

As the afternoon slipped by, Mary remembered that he had been out of the office for a few moments before they made their date, so she decided that if there had been any call he had made it then. Apparently the results were none too satisfactory.

At half past four Dayton came to her. His hat was on and he appeared to be going out.

"Guess you'd better slip along," he remarked, "I'll call for you at about seven o'clock."

Dad Gillen was busy polishing his old nightstick when Mary arrived. As she came in, he looked up somewhat startled by her appearance at the unusual hour.

"What's the matter, Mary girl?" "Nothing, you old silly," she cried as she kissed him. "I'm going out with Dayton this evening and he sent me home early so that I'll be ready when he calls. I'll be ready all right."

"I'm not sure that I like the idea," Dad mused, "From what I can gather this Dayton bird is none too nice to know, I'd like to crack him one with this."

"Maybe you'll be able to if I get the goods on him."

Mary was ready and waiting when Dayton knocked at the door. She looked lovely in her simple little black lace gown and Dayton stood astonished for a moment as he looked at her.

The excitement had brought an even rosier flush to her cheeks and her eyes were dancing with a mixture of merriment and excitement. It was a great adventure, and if her plan worked she would be able to do her share towards helping Danny.

"Well, I'm ready," she smiled. "I see you are—and you certainly look lovely," then as she introduced him to Dad, who almost managed to appear enthusiastic, he showed his utter confidence in his ability to handle the situation.

"Let's get out of here and eat," he remarked.

Mary grinned a little. Things were going well, and as he helped her on with her coat she felt his lips brush the top of her head.

THIS MAN HOOVER

MARK SULLIVAN, political writer, has much to say of Hoover. Writing in the Minneapolis Journal, Sullivan says that the republicans, in their platform and in their campaign, will capitalize, more than any other asset, the record of the Coolidge administration. In doing that the nomination of Hoover is almost inevitable. "It is not merely that Hoover is the only one of the candidates or possibilities who is in the cabinet, and, therefore, has been during seven years in direct contact with the administration, a fundamental part of it, familiar with all its policies, but Hoover himself, to a considerable degree, is responsible for the carrying out of some of the most important of the policies.

"Hoover's strength in this respect can be realized when it is said that he, alone among the candidates, has to the Coolidge administration the relation that in other organizations is spoken of as second man. In nearly every administrative group, board of overseers of a college, executive board of a college, bank directorate or what not, there is almost always some man who is recognized as the natural successor whenever the head man retires. If the choice of the next republican nominee were made in the matter in which ordinary bodies make similar transactions of office and power, Hoover would be the choice automatically.

"But Hoover, among the candidates, is not only the outstanding one in his relation to the present administration. He is the only one. Stronger than that, all the other important candidates are identified with opposition to the administration."

THE SPIRIT OF COMPETITION

THE spirit of competition grows stronger every day and the latest exploit, "Office boy captures gum chewing contest," led Life to take up the matter and make these suggestions:

In these days of contests the following might be suggested to aspirants for world's championships:

1. Women's cigarette-smoking contest. (Winner to be buried with honors.)
2. Phonograph players' contest. (Must break all records.)
3. Back-seat drivers' contest. (Winners to be run over by ten-ton truck.)
4. Bootleggers' contest. (Must drink own liquor. Federal agents barred.)
5. Golf liars' contest. (No amateurs allowed.)
6. First sign of spring contest. (Must capture all first robins with lariats.)
7. "Blue Heaven" singing contest. (100,000 prizes of home-steads on the Great American desert.)
8. Presidential candidates' contest. (Must answer "yes" or "no" on foreign policy.)
9. Wrestlers' contest. (Winner to be decided beforehand.)
10. Oil-land leasing contest. (First prize, $300,000 in missing bonds.)

"Let's get out of here and eat," he remarked.

Mary grinned a little. Things were going well, and as he helped her on with her coat she felt his lips brush the top of her head.

Dad was hidden behind the opened closet door as that happened. For a moment, her feelings almost got the better of her, then remembering that she would probably have to stand for more than that if she were to gain her point, she turned in his direction, with her sweetest smile.

"Okay, let's go then."

The press of traffic on Broadway enforced a quiet drive and they reached Henri's without any trouble. Dinner was quiet and dignified without anything to give her cause to worry. The show was really enjoyable and at the end she began to wonder whether she was going to have a chance to get anything out of him.

On the way up to seventy-ninth street and the Red Mill, Dayton elected to cut up through Central Park. Once he had left the busy bustle of Broadway behind he began to show his real interest in his companion.

The little Chrysler roadster was so small that she was pressed pretty tightly against him, and as he turned the car into the almost deserted roadways of the park he took one hand from the wheel and placed it around her.

Mary's first instinct was to pull away, which she did, then as she remembered and settled back again, Dayton looked down at her, thinking that he had gained another victory over the opposite sex.

At the Red Mill, Mary began to wonder whether she was competent to carry the thing through. Instead of the open dining room, on which she had planned, they were ushered into a crimson curtained room, where yellow lights threw fantastic shadows over the walls.

Dayton was obviously known. A waiter hurried up to him and on his whispered order, placed a champagne basket with two bottles, on the table in front of them.

"We'll leave those babies on the ice for a time, what say we have a Clover Club?"

Mary agreed, and in a few moments the drinks were in front of them. She had been somewhat afraid of this part of the programme. Several times she had tasted drinks at the different balls that she had attended, but this sort of thing was new to her. Herebefore the stuff had been distinctly distasteful, but when, at his request, she put the cocktail to her lips and tasted it, she found the taste pleasant and the effects hardly noticeable. That is a characteristic of a "Clover Club."

When that was finished, and a glass of champagne had followed it, Mary was beginning to feel that perhaps she had misunderstood the effects of liquor. There was one thing, of which she was completely certain. She was not even feeling the drinks she had taken. Wiser and more experienced people than Mary had travelled the same route and Dayton smiled across the table at her as he saw the sparkle in her eyes and the flush on her cheeks.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER SHUTS OUT PIRATES 5-0

ALEX WAS ON TOP OF THE GAME

St. Louis, Mo., April 13.—(UP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, who started tossing baseballs in the big leagues when some of the stars of today were still in their swaddling clothes, opened his 1928 career here yesterday by turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates, last year's National League champions, 5 to 0.

Old Pete not only shut out the Pittsburgh outfit but made a hit, a run and handled three chances as neatly as he ever did when he broke into big time baseball 18 years ago.

Alex was on top of the game all the way despite the presence in the opposing line-up of the famous Waner brothers, who were held to a single each.

Only one Pirate reached third and but three reached the keystone sack. He struck out three men and passed but one. In the seventh inning Pittsburgh had the old master in something of a hole, for a few minutes when two men were on base and only one had been retired. But Alexander lifted himself out by his bootstraps when he fanned the next batter and fed Grimes some fancy slow ones which ended in a slow roller to Frisch.

Alex, who is hardly the best orator in baseball, was his usual reticent self after the game.

"I can't help it," he said, "if I throw them and the boys don't hit them."

rather anxious about this resumption. They have yet to see their home team win a ball game.

Not a single American League club has won a home game this season, all victories to date having gone to the visitors.

In the National League, however, the home teams have been quite successful.

The spectacle of the St. Louis Browns and the Cleveland Indians leading the American League procession is an unexpected one, but youngsters called upon by Howley and Peckinpaugh have performed surprisingly well in the initial tests.

St. Louis fans, in fact, have occasion to be well pleased with the results thus far. The Browns were expected to hit the bottom of the American League with a thud, and stay there, especially since they had to open the season against the Detroit Tigers, who had been primed by George Moriarty for a quick getaway. Instead, Dan Howley's youngsters have made an excellent start, showing complete disregard for the prowess of the best Detroit pitchers.

Players obtained from the Tigers in last winter's trades, Lou Blue and Heinie Manush, have led the attack upon Detroit, to Manager Moriarty's discomfiture. Frank O'Rourke, traded by the Tigers last year, also has played a prominent part in the twisting of the Junglers' tails.

The fact that the St. Louis Cardinals have gotten away to such a conspicuous start is even more encouraging to Mound City fans, for while the Browns are a second division certainty, the Cardinals have a great chance to win the National League flag. The principal question disturbing St. Louis rooters was the condition of the club's cripples and the strength of the aging pitching staff.

The cripples have been performing splendidly, and old Grover Cleveland Alexander turned in one of his greatest games yesterday against the Pirates. To "Old Pete" went the honor of hurling the season's first shut-out, and this against a fighting ball club.

They used to complain that "Old Pete" had a taste for stimulants, but he must have been taking a little elixir from the fountain of youth as a chaser. The veteran, who confesses to 41 and probably has seen a few more years than that still has the speed, cunning, and above all, the control of his palmy days.

Since Alex started pitching exhibition games this spring he has worked 19 innings, including nine yesterday, without allowing a run.

Voight to Meet Dawson Today

Pineurst, N. C.—George Voight of Washington and John Dawson of Chicago will meet in the 36-hole final round of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament today. Voight won two matches yesterday to enter the final round.

Needs Tropical Climate

The Litchi or Lichi grows successfully only in southern China, Cochinchina, and the Philippines. It has been grown experimentally in southern Florida, and southern California, but will not thrive except in a tropical climate.

Square Notes Superseded

Square notes in music are simply an old form of notation. The round ones are more quickly and easily made.

Term Almost Obsolete

The term "oblique sailing" refers to the movement of a vessel when she sails upon a course making an oblique angle with the meridian. The use of the term is rare.

Johns Hopkins university was incorporated August 24, 1867, and was opened for instruction to September 1873.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Grover Cleveland Alexander, starting his eighteenth major league season at the age of 41, and still unbeatable when feeling right. To the delight of St. Louis fans, "Old Pete" pitched the season's first shut-out, while the Cardinals were hammering Burleigh Grimes of the Pittsburgh Pirates for a 5 to 0 victory.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals has hit a homer in each game his club has played.

Players traded by the Tigers to the Browns figured largely in St. Louis' second victory over Detroit, 7 to 2. Manush, Blue and O'Rourke led in run-making.

Al Thomas and Joe Shaute indulged in the season's only close pitching duel at Chicago, but Langford tripled to score Jamieson in the sixth and won for the Indians, 2 to 1.

Errors by the Cubs again paved the way for a Cincinnati victory, the Reds coming from behind to win their second straight, 9 to 3.

Cold, rain and wet grounds prevented all eastern games from being played.

2 Suffer Broken Legs in Ball Game
Houston, Texas.—Homer Peel, Houston left fielder, and Felix Vigare, Waco third baseman, suffered broken legs in the same inning of the Waco-Houston game here. Peel broke his leg in the seventh frame when he ran into a fence attempting to catch Vigare's drive, and Vigare's leg was fractured shortly afterward when he slid into home plate.

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., held a lead of more than an hour over his nearest rival, Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England. Payne increased his lead over Gavuzzi by five minutes yesterday when he led the Englishman renewed their contest for the lead in C. C. Pyle's transcontinental foot race today as the eighty-five runners left here for Oklahoma City.

Niels Nelson, Chicago, won yesterday's race in 5:20:26 and advanced to 33rd place in time standings. Olli Wanttinen, New York, and Claude Brown, Glendale, Cal., finished second and third, respectively.

Yesterday's Hero—Grover Cleveland Alexander, starting his eighteenth major league season at the age of 41, and still unbeatable when feeling right. To the delight of St. Louis fans, "Old Pete" pitched the season's first shut-out, while the Cardinals were hammering Burleigh Grimes of the Pittsburgh Pirates for a 5 to 0 victory.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals has hit a homer in each game his club has played.

Players traded by the Tigers to the Browns figured largely in St. Louis' second victory over Detroit, 7 to 2. Manush, Blue and O'Rourke led in run-making.

Al Thomas and Joe Shante indulged in the season's only close pitching duel at Chicago, but Langford tripled to score Jamieson in the sixth and won for the Indians, 2 to 1.

Errors by the Cubs again paved the way for a Cincinnati victory, the Reds coming from behind to win their second straight, 9 to 3.

Cold, rain and wet grounds prevented all eastern games from being played.

2 Suffer Broken Legs in Ball Game
Houston, Texas.—Homer Peel, Houston left fielder, and Felix Vigore, Waco third baseman, suffered broken legs in the same inning of the Waco-Houston game here. Peel broke his leg in the seventh frame when he ran into a fence attempting to catch Vigore's drive, and Vigore's leg was fractured shortly afterward when he slid into home plate.

Chester T. Start Visualizes Growth of Brainerd Through Its Summer Tourist Season

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening was replete with interesting reports of committees, correspondence conducted by the Chamber, addresses of members and quite an accession in the membership, five new members being added. These are S. R. Hickerson, garment manufacturer; T. N. Brennan, tire sales; Robert Block, bowling alley; R. M. Sheets, Journal Press; Ira L. Peterson, Y. M. C. A. secretary.

John J. Krekelberg, chairman of the manufacturing committee reported on the garment factory and boat building factory and urged further support and cooperation of the members.

S. R. Hickerson of Hickerson and Co., said the corporation received most of its orders in June, July, and August, and the following three months are devoted to re-orders. The factory now has orders to make 7,000 garments.

The Minnesota Motor Trades association acknowledged a receipt of the invitation to hold their summer convention in Brainerd, and the secretary stated the board of directors would consider the same this week.

Chester T. Start Speaks

Chester T. Start, of the firm of Harrison and Start, Kansas City, Mo., spoke of the business situation in the west. He said that lumber yard and material men were getting more business in the middle west. Farmers are "getting on their feet," he said.

"As developers of Pine Beach on Gull Lake, we find that an improvement in the farming situation makes for better business all around, and in turn affects the tourist business and our interests near Brainerd. We are after the man who spends several thousand dollars on his vacation. Results in our business were satisfactory last year, but our real drive will not come for another year," he said.

"The old Jefferson highway through Missouri now has only 67 miles of dirt roads, being three miles in Missouri and 64 miles in Iowa. When the way is made all cement from Kansas City to Brainerd, we expect a large accession of some of the richest people of Kansas City and the midwest. By 1929 Minnesota will be connected with Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, in fact from the Gulf to the Canadian line by several all-the-year around roads open in winter as well as summer.

"Wisconsin as near as I can see is experiencing the competition of Minnesota for the tourist business. To counteract Minnesota's prestige the state of Wisconsin sent a special train carrying industrial and agricultural exhibits with 200 people through Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, and back home and three quarters of their time was devoted to boosting the tourist business.

We shall be here with the finished product when emigration starts.

"I have been coming to Brainerd for the last 15 or 18 years and from all reports received and our own experience, I know the business men here are treating the tourists fairly," said Mr. Start.

F. H. Gruenhagen, chairman of the finance committee said he would have a report next meeting.

Robert Nichol, chairman of the committee on ornamental gateway on South Sixth street reported briefly.

Joseph Fingerhut, of Momence, Ill., a deputy of the Moose Lodge, spoke of the state convention which is to assemble at Brainerd and Breezy Point, August 17, 18, and 19. He gave a history of the order, spoke of its many benefits, and the humanitarian movements inaugurated at Mooseheart, Ill., Moose Haven in Florida, and the extension service which takes care of 1200 families in their own home town.

Tells Interesting Trip

R. R. Gould, past president of the Chamber told of his experiences on his trip to the West Indies recently. He left New York February 29 and experienced all the thrills of a stormy passage. They found Bermuda a white place, built of white coral houses and using coral for roadway and other purposes. At San Juan, old Moro Castle was the object of historical interest, being intimately associated with events in the Spanish American war. In the country in the immediate vicinity they saw tropical plants. The ship then went on to Martinique and to Trinidad. At Trinidad the asphalt lake was an object of interest. A small railway taps the beds of this lake and for years has occupied the same road bed. The workers dig out asphalt from one side of the road way and then proceed down the other side and when they return the lake bed has automatically filled up and levelled the diggings to the height of the rest of the surface. No one has been able to explain the phenomenon and the workers pay no attention to it but keep on digging.

They visited Caracas, capital of Venezuela, the Dutch free port of Curacao and then went on to Columbia, the Panama canal zone, Jamaica, Haiti, Havana. The Cuban town is very clean and in appearance resembles a tabloid edition of New York City.

Mr. Gould also visited his old home at Jamestown, N. Y., and said that from what he seen and heard in the east business conditions will be better than last year. There are some idle people among the eastern factories but on the other hand it is hard to get sufficient labor on the farms.

Commissioner Frank J. Lowey spoke of the Mississippi Scenic Drive, traced its beauties and pleaded to have the city improve its west end in Brainerd.

Supports Canoe Derby

The Chamber gave its moral support to the Diamond Jubilee Outdoor Exposition, Mississippi River Canoe Derby to be held under the auspices of Minneapolis Elks lodge, No. 44, from Lake Itasca to Minneapolis, May 13 to 26. One thousand dollars in gold and medals are to be divided between the first four pairs of canoe racers. No entry fee will be charged. President R. E. Wyett named this canoe derby committee: G. S. Swanson, S. R. Adair, Frank J. Lowy, R. R. Gould, B. L. Lagerquist, J. P. Anderson.

Home Seekers Entertainment Action was taken on a letter submitted by County Agent E. G. Roth which he had received from the Agricultural Development Agent of the Northern Pacific railway and which was referred to the publicity and convention committee which will comply with requests mentioned.

The letter follows: "We are attempting to organize a party of homeseekers for a trip to northern Minnesota, from July 11 to 14. We wish to take them to points along the M. & L. line between Brainerd and Northome. Just how many we are going to have on this tour is doubtful, but we are planning from five to twenty-five in the party. "We call these tours "All-Expense," by this we give our prospects a figure which will pay their railroad fare and such meals and lodging as is necessary. Naturally the lower we can keep this "all expense" figure, the more attractive it is to prospects. In order to do this we must call on the local communities for some assistance in the way of providing lunches, lodging and auto transportation.

"Tentatively we have placed 13. We have asked the Walker people to bring the party on the afternoon of July 13 down as far as Pine River. We would like to secure cars from Brainerd to meet them and transport them to Brainerd. Could a supper be arranged for them furnished by the business people of Brainerd? After supper we could have some Brainerd cars to take them over to Staples, where they would spend the night."

Salt in Hudson River

There might be a slight indication of salt in the Hudson river as far up as Troy. However, this varies with floods. In case of floods the sea water is pushed back and the salt water does not go very far up. Without floods, however, the water is brackish as far up as Troy.

Coffee Adulterants

Turkish coffee is not all coffee. Throughout the East coffee is mixed with large quantities of barley or rye meal, which makes it thick and prevents it from exciting the nerves too much.

held Saturday afternoon and evening, April 14 at the local Masonic hall.

A class of 40 candidates will receive the Royal Arch Degree in the afternoon starting at 2 o'clock sharp.

cal Chapter of the Eastern Star in their usual good manner, there will be a very elaborate musical program beginning at 8:30 P. M., to which all Masons and their families of Brainerd and vicinity are cordially invited.

It was the opinion of the committee that if a first class program was to be presented a great deal of the appreciation of the talent would be wasted if given for the men alone and it was with this in view that it was decided to invite all Masons and their families.

MICKIE SAYS

Know Your Sweetheart
by His Handwriting

By EDNA PURDY WALSH
Editor, Character Reading Magazine.

His Capital "I"

You will not have to wait until your friend says, "I" with reference to himself if you can secure a sample of his writing and study the I.

If the upper loop of this capital is long and not very wide, and the base is not in proportion,
but smaller,
then you will know that the writer is mentally alert and extremely ambitious, especially in a social or public way, yet knows little of things practical.

When the capital I leans backward,
the writer is retrospective and cautious and backs away from people and things. This person will never buy oil stocks or allow a high-pressure salesman to even approach him.

The boat shaped I with a base the shape of a boat suggests love of travel in the writer and shows push and good sportsmanship in the writer.

The narrow upper loop of the I that appears squeezed is mostly made by the self-satisfied person who does not even listen to others and absorbs little knowledge in that way. If the stroke that makes the upper loop crosses the upright and proceeds on in the direction of the writing the indication is that the writer is ardent, active, impulsive and courageous.

BREMEN SIGHTED
OVER NOVA SCOTIA

rapidly over the approximate course of the trans-Atlantic airplane Brem-men.

The ship at 5 A. M. was nearly 900 miles out from New York near the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.
A few clouds hampered visibility and the German airplane had not been sighted.

Washington, April 13.—The coast guard ice patrol boat Modoc radioed to headquarters here at 7:30 A. M.
today from her position well to the eastward of Nova Scotia that no one aboard her had seen or heard the German plane Bremen.

The boat, on giving her position
last night as 44:24 north, 43:45 west, was asked to keep a strict lookout for the plane.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 13
—Southeasterly gales accompanied by rain have swept the Newfoundland coast since early morning. A fog made visibility poor. No news of the German monoplane Bremen has been received from any quarter.

Nahant, Mass., April 12.—An entirely unconfirmed radio report, intercepted by the coast guard station here this morning, said that a plane believed to be the Bremen, was sighted "off Newfoundland" at 5:30
A. M., eastern standard time today.
According to the Nahant station, the message was sent from a ship at sea to the Radio Corporation of America station at Nahant.

Efforts to verify the report were not successful.

Details of the intercepted message were not disclosed by the Nahant station, officials of which were inclined to doubt the authenticity of the report.

Word from the Boston navy yard was that the same message had been intercepted there, but naval officials also appeared to place little faith in it.

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 13.—
Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is following with keen interest press reports of the attempt of three men to span the Atlantic from east to west—a flight more hazardous than his own trip from west to east.

The aviator left instructions with his secretary that any news of the Bremen's flight should be relayed to him immediately.

Know Your Sweetheart
by His Handwriting

Editor, Character Reading Magazine.

Those Moody Sweethearts

There are many noble souls who feel depression and joy beyond words, yet who appear cool to us, because

Magazine,

Also send

Moodyness in Change of Slant and Base Line.

they do not express these moods. They do their crying "inside."

But those whose emotions are nearer the surface of expression feel that they sense the heights and depths.
Like the light canoe they go with these waves of emotion, up and down.
Those in expressive vocations, such as acting and music composition, as well as those who go through life guided almost wholly by the emotions write up and down on the base line. In judging this emotional trait, therefore, one should work on only unruled specimens.

The letters of the moody individual vary in size. The t bars will change their slant from t bars to upright strokes, and the slant of the writing will change in the letter from vertical to a more slanting style, and back again, etc.

Those who are governed by their emotions should seek to write with even slants, even t bars, even lines, for in doing this the mental processes are gradually brought into more powerful control, without damaging one's dramatic ability in the least.

His Capital "I"

You will not have to wait until your friend says, "I" with reference to himself if you can secure a sample of his writing and study the I.

If the upper loop of this capital is long and not very wide, and the base is not in proportion, but smaller, then you will know that the writer is mentally alert and extremely ambitious, especially in a social or public way, yet knows little of things practical.

When the capital I leans backward, the writer is retrospective and cautious and backs away from people and things. This person will never buy oil stocks or allow a high-pressure salesman to even approach him.

The boat shaped I with a base the shape of a boat suggests love of travel in the writer and shows push and good sportsmanship in the writer.

The narrow upper loop of the I that appears squeezed is mostly made by the self-satisfied person who does not even listen to others and absorbs little knowledge in that way. If the stroke that makes the upper loop crosses the upright and proceeds on in the direction of the writing the indication is that the writer is ardent, active, impulsive and courageous.

rapidly over the approximate course of the trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen.

The ship at 5 A. M. was nearly 900 miles out from New York near the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. A few clouds hampered visibility and the German airplane had not been sighted.

Washington, April 13.—The coast guard ice patrol boat Modoc radioed to headquarters here at 7:30 A. M. today from her position well to the eastward of Nova Scotia that no one aboard her had seen or heard the German plane Bremen.

The boat, on giving her position last night as 44:24 north, 43:45 west, was asked to keep a strict lookout for the plane.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 13.—Southeasterly gales accompanied by rain have swept the Newfoundland coast since early morning. A fog made visibility poor. No news.

Nahant, Mass., April 12.—An entirely unconfirmed radio report, intercepted by the coast guard station here this morning, said that a plane believed to be the Bremen, was sighted "off Newfoundland" at 5:30 A. M., eastern standard time today.

According to the Nahant station, the message was sent from a ship at sea to the Radio Corporation of America station at Thom.

Efforts to verify the report were not successful.

Details of the intercepted message were not disclosed by the Nahant station, officials of which were inclined to doubt the authenticity of the report.

Word from the Boston navy yard was that the same message had been intercepted there, but naval officials also appeared to place little faith in it.

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is following with keen interest press reports of the attempt of three men to span the Atlantic from east to west—a flight more hazardous than his own trip from west to east.

The aviator left instructions with his secretary that any news of the Bremen's flight should be relayed to him immediately.

Know Your Sweetheart by His Handwriting

Those Moody Sweethearts

There are many noble souls who feel depression and joy beyond words, yet who appear cool to us, because they do not express these moods. They do their crying "inside."

But those whose emotions are nearer the surface of expression feel that they sense the heights and depths. Like the light comes they go with these waves of emotion, up and down. Those in expressive vocations such as acting and music composition, as well as those who go through life guided almost wholly by the emotions write up and down on the base line. In judging this emotional trait, therefore, one should work on only unruled specimens.

The letters of the moody individual vary in size. The t bars will change their slant from down to upright strokes, and the slant of the writing will change in the letter from vertical to a more slanting style, and back again, etc.

Those who are governed by their emotions should seek to write with even slants, even t bars, even lines, for in doing this the mental processes are gradually brought into more powerful control, without damaging one's dramatic ability in the least.
